ANNOUNCE DATE OF GARDEN CLUB FLOWER SHOW

Bay-Waveland Garden Club board meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. John Stone with Mrs. R. F. Gray as co-hostess.

Mrs. Wallace Chevils presided in absence of the president.

It was announced the Junior Garden Club will have its Christmas Flower Show December 13 at Bay High School with Mrs. D. E. Swin, chairman.

Mrs. C. R. Beyer and her committee will make their annual visit to the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Gulfport, at 2 p. m. December 11, to entertain a group of veterans.

Report was given on the Christmas tree at the center last Wednesday at which past presidents and members of the Christmas tree committee were present.

Mrs. E. J. Miller and Mrs. E. J. Miller were co-chairmen.

PRINCIPAL EXPLAINS NEW ACCREDITATION FOR SCHOOL

Mrs. C. A. Russ III, Principal of Christ Episcopal Day School, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, attended the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in Memphis, Tennessee, December 2-6, at which Christ Episcopal Day School received accreditation. Two other Mississippi schools were accredited, and one was re-accredited.

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools governs Colleges, Secondary Schools and Elementary Schools in the eleven Southern states from Virginia to Texas. Of the 683 member elementary schools, thirty-three received initial accreditation at the meeting, and seventy-seven were re-accredited.

A school must first achieve the highest rating the State Accreditation Commission grants before being allowed to seek accreditation in the Association. Christ Episcopal Day School has held this "AA" rating for the past seven years.

A Visiting Committee from the Association visited the school this past spring for four days to examine the school in view of the report submitted to them. Based on the recommendations of the Committee, the faculty then made plans for continuing school improvement.

Mrs. Russ explained to the group that accreditation is based upon continuing school improvement programs. The faculty is to submit an annual report to the Association, stating the improvements made in the school, through the cooperative study of their problems. Accreditation of all elementary schools are reviewed annually at the regional meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

HOSPITAL BOARD REPORT SHOWS FINANCIAL IMPROVEMENT

A financial report of Hancock General Hospital given by John Rutherford Jr., at Monday's board meeting showed the present bank balance higher than the balance at this time last year.

The proposed hospital addition and the possibility of a chaplain of the week program were discussed.

The policy of room memorials was brought. They will cost $1,000 each in the present hospital as well as in the new rooms.

Plaques will be placed on doors in memory of the deceased in whose name they are given.

Plans for the Christmas party for the medical staff, trustees and hospital employees were made and it will be held December 21 at Haverly's.

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP DRIVE FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

The annual membership drive of the Hancock Association for Retarded Children is now in full swing. Word is being mailed to the public explaining the aims and activities of this organization. Our letter states:

"A retarded child is one whose capacity to learn is limited and whose total development is slower than that of others. Public educational facilities for these children are woefully lacking. Hancock County, for instance, whose population, based on National averages, would be approximately 360, has no special education facilities for only 12 retardates. It has become necessary for private groups to take the matter into their hands. These mentally retarded children can be helped. Our Association is providing help to a limited number. However, this limited number would be receiving no help were it not for the local, privately operated Hancock Association for Retarded Children."

We need all the assistance possible; we receive no public funds. It is hoped that our County will respond to this appeal, even better than before. The Center for Retarded Children, located in the King's Daughters Hospital on Carroll Ave., is actively teaching, training, and caring for these children. Qualified teachers in this field are scarce and our Association is happy to have obtained the services of the much loved Mrs. Irma Baker who has all the qualifications required by law to teach retarded children. Many expenses, including the teacher's salary, must be paid. We invite the public to visit our school. Classes begin at 9 a. m. five days each week. It is gratifying to observe the help being given to these children who are unable to benefit by the more rapidly moving classes of the public school system.

As the Holiday Season approaches, we feel that the spirit of Christmas is for children and that there are many children who will always remain children regardless of chronological age.

Dedicate St. Clare's

MAKE PRESENTATION TO BISHOP GEROW

The new St. Clare's Catholic Church at Waveland was dedicated on Sunday, December 8, as proud and happy parishioners stood among the clergy, brothers and sisters of the religious and friends of the neighboring parishes. Together they solemnly witnessed history being made as Bishop Richard O. Gerow, with all the sacred and ancient pomp and pageantry of the Catholic Church, performed the impressive ceremonies, followed by a solemn pontifical mass with Bishop Gerow, the celebrant, assisted by the oblate fathers and neighboring parish priests. The choir of Our Lady of the Snow Seminary rendered music for this memorable occasion. The Rev. Herbert Mullin, pastor of St. Michael Church, Biloxi, delivered the sermon.

The new church, long a dream of the parishioners of St. Clare's, has now become a reality. This was brought about by the foresight, thoughtfulness and love of God and man, and the courage of the zealous and ambitious, pastor, Rev. John T. O'Brien.

In this dream that has become true, one finds simplicity, but in all its simplicity, a serene and radiant beauty, found only in the house of the Lord, is ever present.

The modern brick structure that has a seating capacity of 800, features interior walls of exposed brick, green terrazzo floors, complemented by wood paneling which predominates in the ceiling and wall finishes.

The architectural firm was Richard C. Moulden, AIA associate, and J. Buchanan Blitch, AIA associate.

The Quinn Construction Company of New Orleans, headed by Frank Quinn, was responsible for the excellent Gaelic touch found in the planning and building.

The stain glass windows depict events in the lives of our Divine Savior and His Blessed Mother, with the exception of one of the Holy Ghost, the Holy Name Society, St. Patrick and St. Dominic, were purchased from Dublin Paint and Glass Co. Dublin, Ireland. The St. Patrick window is in honor and memory of the late Rev. M. J. Costello, the first pastor of St. Clare's, who served the parishioners for forty-three consecutive years. The St. Dominic window is in honor and thanksgiving of the Dominican sisters who will take over the administration of the new St. Clare's Parish School in the fall of 1964.

The Tabernacle and other altar furnishings came from the Blanchard Tile Co., forms an impressive background for the huge lifelike Crucifix.

The Blessed Virgin Mary Sodality, is responsible for the green carpet.

A reception was held in honor of Bishop Gerow in the Parish Hall, with Dr. O. J. Mollere master of ceremonies, and officers of the various parish organizations were the receiving line.

The reception table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a large three tier white cake topped with a replica of a church. Bishop Gerow cut the first slice of cake, the cake was then cut and served with other refreshments to the many in attendance.

Following the reception, Father O'Brien was host at a turkey dinner in the parish hall for the visiting clergy and oblate brothers.

Conditions for the past week have been ideal for catching speckle trout most everywhere, especially up Jordan River. Trolling has been on top and Saturday and Sunday looked like normal with the number of boats and fishermen trying their luck at speckle, most of them were catching their share. Still fishermen using live bait, dead bait and minnows were doing OK and catching their quota. Most specks were caught by trolling, each fisherman using his favorite underwater lure, the Mighty Mite, Slide-winder, with trailer, Sea Sprite, etc. Or just an underwater bait. Green speckle fishing was a little on the side. Tides were exceptional.

By low all day and beginning to rise late in the afternoon. Probably next week with a new moon the tides should fall earlier in the evening and green trout fishing should improve. Trolling for speckle trout with underwater lures should be top. A most popular bait is a number 3 spinner with "trout" hook and yellow skirt. Trolling along the bank with fly rod, casting with the Hand II bait are producing good catches, especially at the mouth of bayou and in lakes with rather high tides. Don't let us understate the bait fishermen, they also get their share.

Among those seen up Jordan River this weekend were: Leroy Lake, Nolan Ladner, Pat Garcia, Al Mercer, Dec Elliott, Raoul Yehiard, Carl Balkendofer, Hank Evans, Louis Schwall and a hundred others whom we did not know.

Forest Necaise, an old timer at fishing and hunting has been catching some nice specks.

A good thing to know W. P. Eschete with Security on Carroll Ave., in New Orleans has charge of the repair department for fixing reels, guns and most any kind of hunting and fishing equipment. W. P. knows his stuff and is always ready to help those needing such service.

The Dirt Dobbers bowling team sponsored by Red Reinke won 1st place at Playtime in the summer league. Red says his team has quality, not quantity. So finds like Red, but we believe he's right.

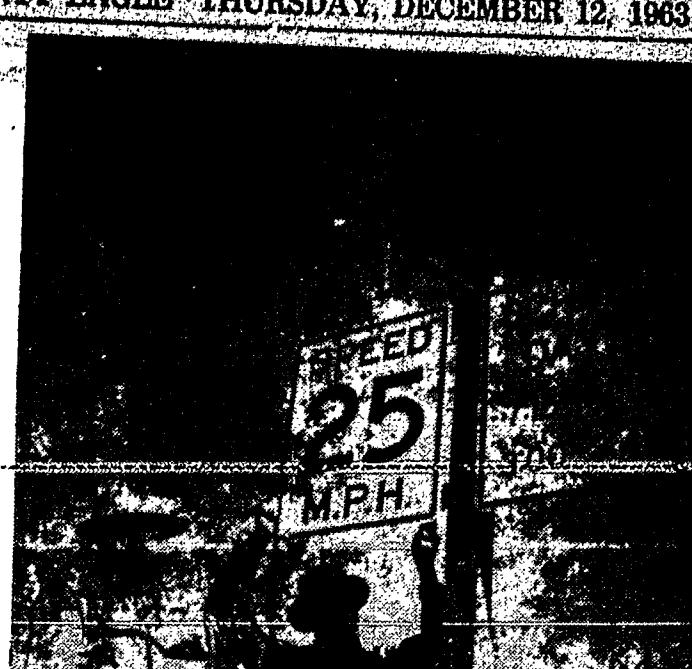

Played golf with Sheldon Senneau Sunday. He is improving and is hard to beat.

Found a real place near New Orleans to get oysters on the half shell and meet a bunch of swell fellows. It's Ray's Seafood Bar and Restaurant, 814 Howard, Metairie, La. Ray is a swell guy and caters to his customers OK. He is a real sport as well.

Jos. Lazaro loves his hunting and fishing. He says he goes on every occasion and gets his share of game. We believe you Joe.

Members of the Pass Christian Isles Golf Club are looking forward to the annual Xmas party Saturday, December 14, 1963 from 7 to 9. Hosts: Watson and Waltman, caterers and husbands. Plenty of food, drinks and fun. Will be looking for you says those in charge.

NEW SCHOOL SIGNS - Better protection for children, as well as more convenience for the motorist are aims of new school zone markings on Mississippi highways. New signs now being installed impose speed limits only during hours when school children are moving on the highway. An example is shown above, the signs being erected by E. C. Cooper, left, and C. C. Ward of the State Highway Department's sign division.

had a good time last week tramping for specks. Louis is an old timer at catching fish and still gets a kick out of catching them.

You and you alone can protect your rights so you can always take a boy hunting or fishing with you. What's closer to a boy's heart than to go with a seasoned hunter or fisherman. We all had to learn.

Deer, duck, woodcock, geese, and quail seasons are open in Louisiana. L. D. Young, Jr., director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission called attention to opening of the woodcock season on Wednesday, November 27.

We have quite a few local hunters who hunt woodcock in Louisiana and it is interesting to know that the woodcock season will continue through sunset, January 15. Be sure that you have a non-resident license. Young said that the long awaited quail season opened on Thanksgiving day and closes on February 23. Most hunting seasons in both Mississippi and Louisiana are longer this year and provides a lot of hunting for those interested. Don't forget to get your duck stamp.

Up to now ducks have been scarce. Very few have been seen up Jordan River but should arrive with colder weather. Bag limits are a little higher this year and promises of some good shooting are in order.

Reports on squirrels and rabbits are that they are plentiful.

NASA News..

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. - A newly formed Redstone Arsenal Missile Sites Labor Relations Committee, made up of government, labor and management representatives, held its first meeting this week at the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center.

Chairman is Commissioner Wiley Roberts of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, Birmingham.

Also meeting with the group was Harry C. Pirrung, assistant to the executive secretary of the President's Missile Sites Labor Commission.

Paul Styles, director of MSFC's Industrial Relations Office, and Fearson Shortridge, special assistant for labor relations to the Army Missile Command commanding general said the tripartite group is made up of members selected by labor, management and government.

Pirrung said the committee is one of 25 located at various DOD missile and NASA space sites to stabilize labor relations and insure that work proceeds on schedule and as economically as possible.

The group formed here will study any labor issues that may arise in connection with both Army and Marshall Space Flight Center construction.

Similar committees have been set up at the Marshall Center's Mississippi Test Operations, Cape Canaveral, Fla., and at the Army's White Sands Missile Range, N. M. In addition to Roberts, committee members are Milton Bagby, Bagby Elevator and Electrical Co.; Joseph L. Cobb of Sullivan, Long and Haggerty; James F. Stewart, Army Corps of Engineers; Carson Inscho Jr., of Inscho Mechanical Contractors; Paul Styles; Fearson Shortridge; Leon Braswell, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; R. H. Clay, President, Huntsville Building Trades Council and Hiram Ezell, Local 320, Operating Engineers.

Pirrung, who is on the National Commission headed by Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, explained the executive order which established the commission and its responsibilities as well as the functions and operation of the local committees.

He said from June 1, 1962 until May 31 1963, 99.92 percent of all available work time on missile and space sites has been free of work stoppage.

Army Engineers have called for bids for another sizeable construction contract at the NASA Mississippi Test Operations, as construction tempo continues to increase at the new test site. MTO is being built in Hancock County under the supervision of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center for test firing of the ground launch and boosters of the mighty Saturn V moon rocket before they are moved to the John F. Kennedy Space Center for launching. Its location on the East Pearl River was chosen so that water transportation could be provided for the heavy and bulky hardware and fuel involved.

Colonel D. A. Raymond, U. S. Army District Engineer, announced today that he will soon begin January 7 in his district office at Mobile for constructing an RP-1 dock, marine terminal facilities, and a booster storage building. The contract is expected to amount to approximately $4,000,000.

The RP-1 dock will be built on the main harbor in the southwest corner of the reservation for unloading barges bringing in refined kerosene for use as rocket fuel. It will consist of a 150-foot timber bridge, a 25 by 15 foot dock on steel pile piling, and two timber dolphins. A derrick will be provided on the dock and the area will be lighted.

The marine terminal facilities will be located a short distance northeast of the dock which will overcome the 20-foot difference in elevation between the approach channel from the East Pearl River and the system of canals serving the Test Operations. The terminal facilities will include a branch canal for access from the main canal, an access road, a parking area, a paved dock area, a reinforced concrete booster transfer lock, dolphins, and lighting. The transfer dock will be used for transferring booster stages from barges to nearby storage facilities.

The booster storage building will be used for storing and servicing the tremendous S-1C, or first stage of the Saturn V rocket. Tallest structure at the site with the exception of the test stands themselves, the building will have a storage area with a roof height of 70 feet. The floor area will be 114 feet by 236 feet, of which 121 feet by 236 feet will be for the storage area and the remainder for administrative and shop areas, including three balcony areas with a roof height of 42 feet. The building will have a piling foundation, structural steel frame, exterior walls of precast concrete panels and insulated metal siding, and sliding and rolling doors.

It will be partially air conditioned. Building equipment will include floodlighting, a welding shop, a machine shop, an electric shop, two 25-ton overhead cranes, and a motorized gantry 50 feet high and 44 feet between tracks. High pressure gas facilities will also be provided to furnish compressed air and nitrogen to the work areas.

TO MEET

The board of directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday, December 16, in the chamber office.

It's an old family custom. I hang up my stocking for Santa to fill. Then everyone has to be very quiet while Daddy reads the Christmas Story from our big family Bible... about the Shepherds... how they watched... and listened. That's why they knew Jesus had come: because they listened!

Again today, Christmas brings good tidings... of peace on earth... good will toward men. Church bells ring... children sing carols... the Story of Bethlehem is told again.

It means Joy to the world: if we listen!

ANNOUNCED FLOOD CONTROL PROJECTS

Senator John Stennis announced Senate approval of the Mississippi flood control and water improvement project.

Stennis, a ranking member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the Senate adopted the Stennis bill, providing $225,000 in complete planning for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway project.

All the projects still require full Senate approval after which the Public Works Appropriations Bill will be returned to the House for final approval.

Stennis said, "The Tennessee-Tombigbee project is a very worthy one that will mean much to Mississippi and the entire Southeastern area of the nation. The $225,000 will complete pre-construction planning, and I hope we can get started on actual construction of this project which is long overdue."

Other projects and the amounts of money for each which received Senate Appropriations Committee OK here today are:

Pascagoula Harbor, $2,200,000, for deepening channel to accommodate deep-draft ocean-going vessels serving the new Standard Oil Refinery and other heavy industries, as well as ships built by Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation.

Pearl River flood control for the Jackson-East Jackson-Floodwood area, $1,300,000, to correct serious flooding conditions in the Capital city area.

Pascagoula River Basin, $150,000, for comprehensive study by U. S. Corps of Engineers to provide flood control for rich farming and industrial areas along its meandering banks.

Natchez levee protection works, $15,000, to build a levee and pumping plant to protect the industrial area adjacent to the Natchez Port facilities against Mississippi River floods.

The Vicksburg Engineer District will be ready to advertise the Natchez project soon, if funds are approved by Congress, Stennis said.

Okafabee Reservoir and flood control project, $100,000, to complete pre-construction planning for the project to provide flood control along this stream and its tributaries in the Meridian area of east central Mississippi.

Pearl River Basin, $100,000, for comprehensive flood control study of the Pearl River from Jackson south to Monticello, Columbia, Prezelusa and on into the Gulf of Mexico.

Big Black River, $25,000, for navigation and flood control study
